BYNUM FAVORS AN INCOME TAX

The Congressman Thinks There is Al ready a Treasury Deficit.

Washington, Dec. 2.—"The financial condition of the Treasury is the only reason that I can see which may require the calling of an extra session of Congress before the latter part of next year," said Representative Bynum this afternoon. "There is bound to be a deficit in the Treasury, and I believe that there is one already."

"What do you think of the suggestion that a loan of $100,000,000 be secured?"

"Well, we shall have to either make a loan or increase the revenues in some way by taxation."

"Do you think that a loan would be more popular than a direct system of increased taxation to meet this emergency?12

"I don't know about that. think that a tax upon incomes, for instance, would be very popular with the masses. We have raised in this country as much as seventy millions by this means at a time when the wealth of the country was not nearly so great as it is at present. I think that a revenue of fifty millions a year could be raised now without its affecting anybody except those who have pretty large incomes. I would have the tax graduated so that those having the largest incomes would have to bear the bulk of the burden, and I would not tax any income which was less than $5,000."

"When do you think that the extra session will be called?"

"I think it would be very embarrassing to the new administration to have an extra session of Congress on its hands at the very outset of its career. I should think that if there is to be one at all it will not be until October next at the earliest."
